

Crop Scout and Agronomy Sales Internship

Company: Storby Seed

Location: Lake Mills, Iowa

Company History:

Storby Seed started back in 1992 and has flourished into Northern Iowa's Premier Asgrow-Dekalb dealer. We have grown our capacity to more than just seed. Storby Seed is also a Climate FieldView dealer, and along with this we also offer soil sampling, and summer crop scouting/consulting. We are looking for someone to help us advance in these new facets and grow our services.

Position Summary:

Our crop scout interns will be given a chance to apply all classroom agronomic knowledge to the field directly. During the course of this internship you will learn to identify, diseases, weeds, and insects that affect the development and growth of corn and soybeans. Throughout the summer you will help give crop reports to growers with the assistance of an experienced sales agronomist. Some other jobs that may be included will be listed below, these jobs however may just be for a short period of time as the planting season starts to close up. We are looking for an innovative, hard-working, and self-motivated Agriculture majors to add to our team.

Position Duration: March-August (flexible start and end dates)

Position Duties:

The duties would include:

- Use Climate FieldView NDVI maps for Precision Scouting via iPad, working in our seed house by sorting seed, assisting in treating beans, and helping with customer service
